MISCELLANEOUS POETRY, selected generally from the most entertaining and impassioned writings of the British poets.

(By the Rev. THOMAS DAVIS.)

In two Volumes, Octavo.

Price two and a half Dollars.

Sold by Robert Gray, & the Author,

A gentleman well known in Philadelphia, and who is greatly respected as a clergyman and justly esteemed as a man of letters, has given the following opinion of this selection:

"The two volumes of Select Poetry, form a valuable contribution to the stock of English literature. I really consider the work as the best compilation now extant. The selections and arrangements evince the taste of a correct and polished mind, the judgment of a sound and benevolent moralist, and that degree of critical skill which can only be acquired by extensive reading and scholastic acquirements."

Alexandria Daily Advertiser.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27.

MARRIED, last evening by the Rev. Dr. Muir, Mr. ANDREW LYON, to Miss MARY MASSEY, formerly of St. Mary's County (Maryland.)

Death of the Bishop of Arras.—The venerable Bishop of Arras, (says a late Philadelphia newspaper) whose eminent virtues have long rendered him a prime object of Bonaparte's hatred, died, in December last, in London, after a tedious illness of twelve months, in the 72d year of his age. His unaffected piety, and truly amiable and gentlemanly manners, obtained for him the respect and veneration of all who knew him, and his death is universally and seriously regretted.

About three weeks ago, the academy at Hallowell, (New-Jersey) together with the books, belonging to it, were destroyed by fire.

By letters received in Philadelphia, from the Mediterranean, we learn that, a duel took place between Mr. Dehart of New Jersey, and Mr. Nicholson of Maryland, both officers in the American squadron. The third fire proved fatal to Mr. Nicholson. He was shot through the head and died instantly.

Melancholy Catastrophe.

We have seldom heard of a circumstance so distressing as the following, which we copy from a Philadelphia paper of the 6th instant:

A Mr. Minchin and his wife went about six weeks ago to the city of Washington, leaving three small children, his mother-in-law, and a young woman a relation. A young gentleman was also in the family as a boarder. On Thursday morning last, Mrs. Gordon, the mother-in-law, baked some buckwheat cakes for breakfast, and the children being present, she gave them the one which was first baked. Not long after, they were seized with a violent vomiting and the rest of the family, except Mrs. G. who had begun their breakfast were taken in the same manner. The vomiting was extreme, and as they expressed it, such a heart-sickness came on them, that they had but sufficient strength left to go to their beds, whither the children was also taken. Immediately after which Mrs. G. was also seized in the same violent manner, though she had not eaten of the cakes, but attributes it to the peculiar disagreeable smell which arose from the first one while baking it.—She also was obliged instantly to go to bed where the whole family continued vomiting with scarcely any intermission, and in this deplorable situation they lay till evening without being able to call for assistance, & unknown to the neighbours. In the evening a young man, a son of Mrs. G. accidentally went to the house, and found them in the above deplorable condition. Assistance and medical aid were immediately procured. The oldest child a fine boy of six years, languished an excruciating agony till Saturday evening, when he died. Purple spots appeared on the face and neck. The youngest child of three years old, is yet alive, but small hopes are entertained of his recovery. The grown persons of the family and another child are out of danger, though still weak. Mrs. G's son, after discovering their situation, and after assistance was procured, had the curiosity to eat a small piece of the buckwheat cake, which was still remaining. It had a disagreeable acid taste, and in about three minutes after he swallowed it, he says his strength failed him, his head ached, and he began to vomit.

The above is a simple statement of facts as related by the family. With respect to the poison, for poison it undoubtedly must have been, which produced this shocking catastrophe, we are left entirely in the dark. The family seem inclined to believe it must have been in the buckwheat meal, but whether from any portion of it having been damaged, or whatever cause, they are unable to determine. Cakes had been made out of the same meal at three or four different times previous to this, and the family experienced no ill effects from using them. They describe their throats to have been much corroded with the vomiting.

From the Register.

It is said that a resolution is now before the Senate of the United States, for interdicting the trade between the U. States, and the island of St. Domingo.

It may be of importance to our citizens to know, whether this resolution, should it pass into a law, will annul the permissions, to carry on that trade, which have been, or may hereafter be granted, special gratia, by the minister of France. It cannot surely be the wish of the national legislature, to pass a law, whose only operation will be to transfer a portion of the profits, of the trade with the island of St. Domingo, from the industrious American merchant, to the foreign minister, or his favorites.

The gentleman who bro't the resolution forward ought to inform himself, at the fountain head, whether such permissions as above stated, were ever issued by Mr. Turreau. It is full time that the interests of our citizens should be understood and protected. To explain and defend them, is a paramount duty.

From the United States' Gazette.

Mr. Crowninshield. So far as we have been able to judge, the proposition which has been laid before congress by Mr. Crowninshield, to provide more effectually for the protection of American seamen, and to countervail the restrictions imposed upon our commerce by foreign nations, has met with very general approbation throughout the United States. Every thinking and well informed man has long been sensible of the necessity of some such provisions; but we had almost despaired of ever seeing them originated under the present administration. However, as one democrat has at length dared to bring forward a measure not dictated by the cabinet; and that too a measure of immense importance to the commerce and revenues of the country, have some ground for hoping that the proposition will not prove a mere abortion, but that our commercial interests, through his exertions, may at length come to be considered as deserving some regard, especially if commerce should continue to be saddled with the whole revenues of the government.

As Mr. Crowninshield is of the Jefferson school and yet has ventured to introduce a proposition by which Virginia and the Virginia faction are not to be exclusively benefited, we are encouraged to recommend to his consideration some other points which we deem interesting to the nation.

We are now pretty well assured that Spain has been drawn into the vortex of European war. Strong reasons exist for expecting that Sweden and Denmark will soon follow. The United States will then be the only commercial nation which will remain neutral; of course a very extensive field will be open for our enterprise, and immense advantages will accrue to the country, provided government will take such measures as effectually to protect the fair trader, and at the same time to convince the belligerent powers that we resolve to sustain ourselves upon the high ground of honourable neutrality.

For this purpose it is of pressing importance, during the present session of Congress, there should be a plain and explicit declaration of what will be considered as constituting the rights of a neutral nation, in order that every merchant and every master of a vessel may know precisely how far he may depend upon the protection of his government, and for what acts his property will be abandoned to seizure and confiscation. For our government to take no settled position upon subjects of such material moment, and to leave controverted points in the laws of nations to be determined to our disadvantage and to the subversion of our rights, according to the varying interests or caprices of foreign powers, argues a degree of cowardice or of imbecility disgraceful to a sovereign and independent nation. Let our government then boldly avow the principles upon which they will act, and, by so doing, proclaim to the world their determination to protect with the whole power of the government, such citizens as shall keep within the limits prescribed, but to abandon to their merited fate such as shall wantonly transgress them.

Some new regulations on the subject of covering belligerent property are already very necessary to the general prosperity of our commerce, and will soon become much more so, should the war in Europe extend to nations who are as yet neutral. Essential benefit as we apprehend would result from a law at once defining our neutral rights, and directing the several collectors of the customs to require satisfactory proofs of the ownership of all cargoes outward and inward, and enjoining upon them to seize for the benefit of the United States, all such as should be found fraudulently covered. Such a regulation would effectually cut up by the roots the pernicious practice of covering belligerent property; a practice which more than any other, tends to embroil a neutral nation with the contending parties, and one which has hitherto proved very injurious to the general prosperity of commerce, and profitable only to a few individuals. The effect has been to destroy all confidence in the truth of our custom-house papers; to render every neutral vessel however fair her papers might appear an object of suspicion to the belligerents; and consequently of capture and detention. Before the close of the last war, scarcely an American vessel was stopped by a belligerent which was not detained and carried into port for adjudication: and the number of instances in which enemy's property was found upon investigation to be fraudulently covered, and in which the cargoes were consequently forfeited to the captors, was so great as to render it the interest of the cruisers to practise in this manner. We need not enlarge upon the evils and losses to which the fair trader is necessarily subjected by such a practice; nor need we attempt to prove that the great body of our merchants, who are confessedly as fair and upright in their transactions as any in the world, sustain damage by such vexatious retentions and trials, which is vastly more than equivalent to the paltry and fraudulent gains of those few who succeed in carrying on an illicit commerce by escaping capture.

If our citizens choose to risk the exportation of arms, ammunition and other articles contraband of war, to the ports of one of the belligerents, or to become the carriers of belligerent's property, let the nature of the cargo and its destination be fully and honestly exhibited in the ship's papers. If she escape capture it is well: but if she fall into the hands of a cruiser it will be instantly seen that she is a fair and lawful prize, and out of the protection of the U. S.

No doubt, therefore, can be entertained that policy, as well as morality demands an interference of the government upon this subject. Such a law as we contemplate would effectually remove the evil by convincing the belligerents of the correctness and purity of our custom-house papers, which, when found so would be duly respected by the cruisers of belligerent nations; our trade would flourish; our insurance would be moderate; our neutrality would be safe from violation; and our character for honesty and fair dealing would become respectable and respected. Government would then have in their power to say to all nations, "We will cordially join hands with you in preventing our citizens from taking advantage of your contentions, to carry on an irregular and unlawful commerce. For this purpose, every cargo to or from our ports is strictly examined under our authority, and if fraud be discovered the property is seized, and confiscated for our benefit. You are therefore bound to respect our custom-house papers, and if you find them clear, to let the vessel pursue her voyage without molestation; for they carry with them the sanction of government, as to the truth of the statements which they contain, and the power of government will be exerted if necessary, to compel you to respect them. We know from our own investigation, that the commerce which our citizens are carrying on is fair and lawful; and we therefore determine to protect them in the prosecution of it at all hazards."

Such an attitude would be honorable to the government, and would command the respect of those nations who now insult us, and spit upon us with impunity in our very harbours. If government could be prevailed upon at once to take this broad ground of honesty, which according to the maxim of the old school, is always in the end the best policy, congress need not trouble their heads any longer with that clearance bill, which appears to have given them so much vexation, and which is at best but merely lepping off an inconsiderable branch of the great evil, while the trunk and roots are left untouched in all their strength and vigor.

NEW-YORK, Feb. 23.

A letter from Providence, R. I., dated the 15th inst. mentions, that there had been a very high fresh there, which had done considerable damage. The tide rose a foot higher than it was ever known before; and several stores on the wharves, filled with lime, were set on fire.

SWINDLING.

A recent instance of swindling has occurred in the city, which, both for the purpose of exposing a scoundrel & putting the public on their guard against him ought not to pass unnoticed. A person calling himself J. Barclay Croker, and who says that he comes from a house in London, has lately attracted himself into public notice as a Goldsmith, Jeweller, &c. and has so far imposed on the public as to possess himself of many valuable articles in the line of his pretended profession. Suspecting, as it seems, that he could not continue his nefarious practices longer without discovery, he clandestinely left his lodgings on Sunday last, and has not since been heard of. Some circumstances lead to conjecture that he has gone to Norfolk or Richmond. In order to apprise the public of their danger, printers especially in the southern states, would do well to mention the fact.

Dr. HAMILTON'S ELIXIR,
A sovereign remedy for Colds, Obsolete Coughs, Asthma, Catarrhs, Sore Throats, and Approaching Consumptions.

To parents who may have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH.

This discovery is of the first magnitude, as it is an immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorder to which children are liable—the Elixir is so perfectly agreeable and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

From LUTHER MARTIN, Esq. Attorney-General of the State of Maryland.

Gentlemen,
I comply with your request in stating my opinion of Hamilton's Elixir. It has been used in my family for two or three years past, with uniform success, whenever colds, coughs, or similar complaints have rendered medicine necessary. I have myself found it an excellent and agreeable remedy for a very painful and troublesome affection of the breast, accompanied with soreness and with obstructed and difficult breathing.

On these accounts I do not hesitate to recommend Hamilton's Elixir, as a valuable medicine, and deserving public attention.

LUTHER MARTIN.

Mr. Abijah Henly, Bridge-Street, Baltimore, was cured by one bottle of Hamilton's Elixir of a very complicated disorder, occasioned by a severe cold caught several months ago. He breathed with the greatest difficulty, and was often thrown into weakening sweats when he attempted to walk any distance, and his voice would frequently fail in such a degree that he could only attempt to whisper; he has been upwards of six weeks without a return of his complaints, and desires to give this public testimony in favour of this invaluable medicine.

Dr. Hamilton's GRAND RESTORATIVE,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of the various complaints which result from dissipated pleasures—juvenile indiscretions—refuge in climates unfavourable to the constitution—the immoderate use of tea, frequent intoxication, or any other destructive intemperance—the unskillful or excessive use of mercury—the diseases peculiar to females, at a certain period of life—bad lyings in, &c. &c.

And is proved by long and extensive experience to be absolutely unparalleled in the cure of Nervous disorders, Consumptions, Losses of spirits, Loss of appetite, Impurity of the blood, Hysterical affections, Inward weakness, Sexual weakness, Fomentalia, (or whites) Barrenness,	Violent cramps in the stomach and back, Indigestion, Melancholy, Gout in the stomach, Pains in the limbs, Relaxations, Involuntary emissions, Obstinate gleet, Impotency, &c. &c.

In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obduracy of disease has brought on a general impoverishment of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a wasting of the flesh, which no nourishment or cordial could repair a perseverance in the use of this medicine has performed the most astonishing cures.

HAMILTON'S ESSENCE and EXTRACT of MUSTARD,

A safe and effectual remedy for gout, rheumatism, palsy, sprains, bruises, pains in the face and neck, &c.
And has performed more cures in the above complaint than all the other medicines ever before made public.

From Dr. Weatherburn, Wye county, Virginia.

Gentlemen,
I purchased at your shop the preparations you call Hamilton's Essence, or Extract of Mustard, which I believe has perfectly removed a chronic rheumatism (of that kind named sciatica, or of the hip joint) under which I had laboured for a long time, and which had baffled every article in the Materia Medica, and every mode of treatment received into practice for the cure of this obstinate disease. If you think this letter useful you are at liberty to make it public.

Yours, &c.

P. WEATHERBURN.

John Hoover, rope-maker, South Second Street, between Mary and Christian-Streets, Philadelphia, voluntarily maketh oath as follows, namely, that his wife Mary Hoover, was so severely afflicted with a violent rheumatism, very dangerously situated, the consequence of a severe cold after lying in, as to be confined to her bed for several weeks, and was at length reduced to the melancholy apprehension of remaining a cripple for life, notwithstanding the most respectable medical advice was followed, and every probable remedy attempted; when seeing several cases of cures performed by Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard, they were prepared from Mr. Birch, No. 17, South Second-Street.
The first application enabled her to walk across the room, and the use of one bottle restored her to her usual rate of health and strength.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have within four years past cured upwards of one hundred and twenty thousand persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and form obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever of similar title, so commonly complained of as operating with violence on the contrary, particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and condition; contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent, and is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady, or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body, yet will without pain or griping, cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. They are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and corruptions; feverish and bilious humors, and the safe and mildest purgative that can be used on the occasion.

Description of Worms, & the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz. the Tereos or large round worm, the Alcidres, or small maw worm, the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm, and lastly, the Tania, or tape worm, so called from its resemblance to tape; this is often many yards long, and is full of joints—it is most hurtful, and most difficult to cure.

Among the symptoms attending worms, are disagreeable breath, especially in the morning—Bad and corrupted gums—itching in the nose and about the face—Convulsions and epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech—Starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep—Irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious—Purging, with slimy and fetid stools—Vomiting—Large and hard belly—Pains and sickness at the stomach—Pains in the head and thighs, with lowness of spirits—Slow fever, with small and irregular pulse—A dry cough—Excessive thirst—Sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent the vomiting and purging of children, a dreadful disorder which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our cities. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known an-has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness, having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

CASES OF CURES—by Hamilton's Worm Destroy- ing Lozenges.

(Selected from thousands) the authenticity of which any person may ascertain, either by letter or personal application.

TAPE WORM.

Mr. SAMUEL FULLER, Inn-keeper, on the Harford road, ten miles from Baltimore, began about 10 months ago to be grievously afflicted with a tape worm, which increased fast in size and strength, so as to excite the most horrid sensations by its writhing motions and intolerable pains, resembling the gnawing and tearing of his bowels, which deprived him of his necessary sleep, and caused such dreadful apprehensions as cannot be co-ceived but by one in a similar situation—his appetite waned rapidly, and with that his strength, so that he was unable to attend to any business—when he heard of some excellent cures performed by Hamilton's worm lozenges, he took a large dose, which brought away 1-bout FOUR YARDS of the worm (now in the possession of Lee & Co.)—but a renewal of his pains soon convinced him that this monstrous reptile had recovered its first vigour—Application was made to Lee & Co. for more of their medicine, with their advice—from which resulted the total expulsion of his formidable enemy, in several pieces, which he supposed to be SIX or EIGHT YARDS more. A few months have since elapsed, and Mr. Fuller is now in perfect health. The above facts are well known to a numerous circle of his neighbours, and himself will gratify any who may wish to make further inquiries on the subject. Although Hamilton's worm lozenges produce such powerful effects, when necessary, yet they are perfectly innocent and mild in their operation on the human body, even taken in large doses, as Mr. Fuller will testify—their particular mildness is abundantly evident in innumerable cases of infants.

Communicated by Dr. John Spangler, York town, Pennsylvania.

Letter from the reverend Mr. JOHN MOLTHER, minister of the Moravian church, in York-town.

York, January 4th, 1802.

Dear Sir,
Dr. Hamilton's lozenges have been recommended to me as a very adequate means for the cure of children afflicted with worms, I procured a box for the use of my family, to try, whether by means of this medicine, I might be enabled to gain a point, which, to accomplish, different other means had proved abortive. My eldest boy had a very sickly appearance, was very restless at night grew lessener from time to time; in short, he seemed to be in a precarious state of health, which would yield to none of the medicines administered, until I gave him two doses of lozenges, agreeably to the directions, which carried off a substance to all appearance a verminous but upon close inspection quite repleated with very small living animals. Not one of that sort of worms which usually afflict children came from him. Since that period he grew remarkably better in health, and though lean, has got a fresh and lively complexion. Upon different occasions I have used this medicine as a purging substitute, and found it to answer exceedingly well, without bringing on belly-ache, or any of those disagreeable sensations, so often occasioned by purging medicines. Upon the whole I judge this medicine to be, besides its main object, one of the most salutary means for restoring lost appetite, and promoting a proper state of digestion, by carrying off that bilious substance, which engenders so much indisposition both among children and adults.

I am, Sir, your most obedient servant, JOHN MOLTHER.
